

CHICAGOANS' UNAPPROVED FLIGHT ENDS IN DEATH

ITALIANS PLEAD FOR REST AFTER STRENUOUS TRIP

Chicago's Welcome To the Heroic Fliers Is Curtailed Today

(Pictures on Pages 4 and 5)
Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—Weariness from a continuous round of social and official festivities that followed the first night and following full day of their stay in Chicago, General Italo Balbo and his 96 Italian fliers faced a curtailed program today.

Completing the last leg of their 5,100 mile flight from Italy in a hop from Montreal that ended Saturday evening when they set their seaplanes down on Lake Michigan, the airmen instantly became the heroes of the nation's second largest city and were treated as such.

It was early yesterday morning before they were privileged to retire to the privacy of the rooms reserved for them in the Drake Hotel for a much needed sleep and rest.

And then they were up again in a few hours for another day of activities that began with a two hour thanksgiving mass, during the whole of which they stood at attention in Holy Name cathedral and ended with a banquet that extended far into the night last night.

Begs For Some Rest
Through it all they smiled and appeared to be having the time of their lives, but at the end their gallant leader, General Balbo, looking ahead to the perilous return flight to Italy, begged that today's program be modified.

As a result visits to the municipal airport where a luncheon had been planned by the Illinois National Guard, the Edward Hines Veterans' hospital and to Lake Geneva, Wis., where the planes would have alighted had Lake Michigan been too rough, were cancelled.

As finally arranged the men were given this morning to rest in their hotel, their first appearance being a scheduled visit to the office of Mayor J. Kelly in the City Hall after which their plans called for an inspection of the new Columbus statue in Grant Park.

Late this afternoon General Balbo planned to take his men to the Indian village at a Century of Progress Exposition to witness his induction into the Sioux tribe as a chief and blood brother to Chief Blackhorn.

To Visit Roosevelt
General Balbo accepted today an invitation to visit President Roosevelt at the White House late this week.

Postmaster General James A. Farley presented the President's invitation while the Italian Air Minister was paying an official call at the City Hall.

The Capital city, however, probably will miss a view of the fleet of 24 Italian seaplanes which completed the first mass flight from Europe to America when it dropped down on Lake Michigan at Chicago's front door Saturday.

General Balbo said the return trip would start Wednesday morning, the armada flying directly to New York.

The Italian visitors will remain in New York for several days, leaving the ships at anchor while the Commander makes a special trip to Washington—probably by automobile or train, or in an American plane. After the visit to the Capital, General Balbo will rejoin his flight comrades in New York and prepare for the crossing of the southern Atlantic to the Azores and Italy.

Orchestra To Give Second Concert At Assembly Thursday

The Dixon Philharmonic Orchestra, which is becoming an outstanding institution in local musical circles, will present its second public concert at the Assembly Park auditorium Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, and the ability shown by the organization in its first appearance should result in a large audience hearing the program.

The orchestra now numbers sixty instrumentalists, and it has become more proficient with each rehearsal under the direction of Prof. Samuelson. The tickets for the concert this week are now being sold by the members of the organization and Kennedy's music store.

The program to be presented by this fine organization Thursday evening will be published later.

Public Farewell To Rev. Fr. Flynn At Hall This Eve

A public farewell for Rev. Fr. T. G. Flynn, beloved and popular pastor of St. Anne's Catholic church, who is forced to give up strenuous activities because of his health and who will become chaplain of St. Joseph's hospital, Aurora, until he becomes strong enough to again assume a pastorate, will be held at St. Anne's hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening. All friends of the retiring clergyman are invited to attend this function in his honor and to bid him God-speed and quick recovery.

POSTPONE CROSS-COUNTRY HI-BALL GAS TEST DRIVE

Representative Dirksen Of Pekin Announces Change

Washington, July 17.—(AP)—Proponents of blended motor fuel today changed their plans for legislative ballroom.

Encouraged by the action of Chairman Harrison of the Senate Finance committee who appointed a subcommittee to study the practicability of using alcohol made from farm products in gasoline, Rep. Everett M. Dirksen, Republican of Pekin, Ill., announced that he and his colleagues would drop their efforts to force such a bill through the House during the spring session of Congress.

"Well, let it come to us from the Senate," he said.

He expressed himself as confident that the Senate would eventually pass such a measure.

Dirksen said he had consulted with others of the House who were intent upon pushing the measure through the spring session, and found them agreeable to helping the Senate subcommittee in every way possible.

"Their attitude has caused me to delay the start of the cross country long distance motor test of the blended fuel and pure gasoline," he added.

This excursion, in which two motors of identical manufacture will be driven from New York City, through the middlewestern states and back to the eastern metropolis, will probably not start before late summer.

William Vaughn Is Laid To Rest Here

The remains of William Vaughn, former Dixon man who died suddenly in Chicago last Thursday, the result of an attack of acute indigestion, were brought to Dixon Saturday afternoon, following services in Beverly Hills, and were laid to rest in Oakwood cemetery with a brief service conducted by Rev. Fr. T. L. Walsh of St. Patrick's church, the city assisted by Rev. Fr. Hurley of St. Barnabas church, Chicago, and Rev. Fr. Buckley, also of Chicago.

Bell bearers were James E. Manahan, Joseph Pescel, Richard Walsh, Frederick Garrity and William E. Wadell of Chicago, and Charles Duis of Dixon. Five members of Blue Island Assembly, fourth degree Knights of Columbus of which Mr. Vaughn was a member and former lecturer, escorted his body to its last resting place.

Former Well Known Amboy Woman Hurt

Mrs. Frank Rosbrook of Buft Park has received word of a serious accident that befell her aunt, Miss Mina Wilcox, last Monday at her home in Los Angeles. While gathering flowers, Miss Wilcox became dizzy and fell to the ground sustaining a fracture of the hip. She is in a critical condition, the report stated. Miss Wilcox was a resident of Amboy for a number of years before moving to California to make her home. She also has many friends in Dixon where she has visited on numerous occasions. A sister, Miss Ella Wilcox, resides with her. Both are of advanced age and have been close companions during their life time.

Hasselman, Moore To Next Grand Jury

John Hasselman and Lloyd Moore, both of this city, who were arrested early Saturday morning by Rockford police and returned to Dixon, charged with the theft of an Oakland sedan belonging to C. E. Mossholder, were arraigned before Justice Grover Gehant Saturday afternoon on charges of larceny. Both waived preliminary hearing and were held to the September grand jury under bonds of $2,000 each, which they were unable to furnish and were taken to the county jail.

Young Hitch-Hiking Shoplifters Allowed To Go When Hose Taken From Dixon Stores Is Returned

A young couple with two small children under five years of age, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clark of Philadelphia, Pa., hitch-hiking through the country, were taken in custody by Patrolman Richard Pomeroy Saturday noon, following complaint of the theft of several boxes of hosiery from local merchants. Taken to the police station for investigation, it was found that Clark had outlined what appeared to be a clever plan for shop lifting, specializing in silk hosiery, which misgarried here. AROUND-WORLD SOLO AVIATOR LEAVES MOSCOW

He Refused To Sleep In Soviet Capital, Is 5 Hours To Good

Wiley Post, making a solo flight around the world, left Moscow for Siberia today 13 hours and two minutes ahead of the time he and Harold Gatty made to that point two years ago.

On that flight, which established a record which still stands, Post and Gatty stayed 11 hours and 30 minutes in Moscow. Today Post stayed there only two hours and 52 minutes taking off for Novo Sibirsk at 9:12 A. M. Eastern Standard Time.

When he left Moscow he was 53 hours and two minutes out of New

Post Forgot His Suitcase This Morn—

Moscow, July 17.—(P)—Wiley Post will have to travel the rest of the way around the world without a change of socks or shirt. The Oklahoma flier, who paused here only three hours today before starting on to Siberia, left his suitcase behind at Koenigsberg earlier in the day. Officials telephoned the luggage was being forwarded on the regular mail plane but Post replied: "I can't wait for it. Ship it home for me."

Death Takes Mrs. Goetzenberger At Her Franklin Home

Franklin, Grove, July 14.—Mrs. Frank A. Goetzenberger passed away at her home in this place at noon today, after an illness of some duration. Funeral services, for which friends are asked to omit flowers, will be held at the home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. An obituary will be published later.

Catcher Gets Foul; Then Drops Dead

Belleville, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—A heart attack suffered while catching in a baseball game at Millstadt, Ill., yesterday was fatal to Hugo Schewe, 26, Belleville. Schewe had just taken off his mask and caught a foul when he dropped dead.

Refused To Sleep

Post refused a chance to snatch a few minutes sleep at the Moscow airport that he might speed up mechanics working on his plane.

It was 5:12 P. M. (8:12 A. M. CST) when the American flier started the Novosibirsk leg of his journey. He had been in Moscow 2 hours and 52 minutes.

When he sped away from the Soviet capital a more than 48-hour growth of beard had disappeared from his face, as he spent fifteen minutes of his short stay here in the airport barbershop.

Post said he experienced great difficulty with his mechanical pilot from the beginning of his flight from New York and he was therefore compelled to give his ship manually the entire distance.

Forced Off Course
Difficulties with the robot were blamed for forcing the American flier a hundred miles off his course between Koenigsberg and Moscow and they were also said to be the chief reason why he landed at the East Prussian Capital last night.

WHEAT SEEMED VERY SCARCE ON CHI. BOARD

Shot Up Five Cents In Two Hours Trading This Morning

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—Wheat seemed so scarce to Board of Trade brokers today that it shot up 5 cents a bushel in two hours today. This rise on top of many others put May at $1.27 1/4 a bushel, triple the quotations six months ago when wheat reached a low record for the last 300 years.

Closing quotations, however, sagged off one to almost two cents, though still well above the opening prices.

Flour rose to a new five year record in Minneapolis, gaining 30 cents a barrel to a top of $3.95, including $1.38 Federal processing tax assessed to pay farmers to grow less wheat.

Flax seed shot up 16 cents a bushel to $2.34. The only seeds opened 8 cents higher and soon rose as much more at Minneapolis.

Barley gained attention on the Chicago Board of Trade as wheat drove through $1.27, the brewing grain skyrocketing 12 cents a bushel to nearly 84 cents.

STOCKS JOIN PARADE

New York, July 17.—(AP)—Stocks joined commodities in a broad upward thrust today. In a turnover approximately 6,500,000 shares, leading issues on the New York Stock Exchange climbed $1 to around $8. Alcohol shares together with those of the rubber, and metal companies, furnished most of the fireworks, although the advance was general.

Cotton has a strong market, rising about $2 a bale into new high ground as grains and shares soared. Crude rubber futures had a maximum appreciation of a cent a pound. Sugar and silver were fairly quiet.

Two Chicagoans Die in Crash

In defiance of the U. S. government, which has refused to approve their projected non-stop flight from New York to Lithuania, Capt. Stephen Darius, left, and Stanley Girenas, took off early Saturday morning. This morning their plane crashed in a forest near Soldin, Germany, and their bodies were found, badly mangled, in the wreckage of the plane, the gasoline tank of which was empty.

INVALID BANKER FREED AT EARLY HOUR ON SUNDAY

Alton, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—The release of August Luer, 77-year-old Alton banker, was preceded by receipt of a series of notes, demanding ransom, from a kidnap gang whose members told the prisoner he had been seized by mistake.

These developments came to light today as the wealthy banker rested in the home to which he was returned yesterday, and federal, state and county officers joined in a widespread search for his abductors.

INVALID BANKER FREED AT EARLY HOUR ON SUNDAY

Is In Remarkably Good Health Considering Experience

Alton, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—The release of August Luer, 77-year-old Alton banker, was preceded by receipt of a series of notes, demanding ransom, from a kidnap gang whose members told the prisoner he had been seized by mistake.

These developments came to light today as the wealthy banker rested in the home to which he was returned yesterday, and federal, state and county officers joined in a widespread search for his abductors.

At a conference with Department of Justice men, active in the investigation despite the announced withdrawal of all police officials from the case at the request of the victim's family, Luer said he was told by the gang that they had meant to take Herman Luer. It was not clear whether the reference was to the banker's son, Herman, or his brother by the same name.

Alton, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—The release by a kidnap gang of August Luer, aged and wealthy banker, today had stilled deep anxiety for his safety, but created a controversy over how much, if any, ransom was paid.

Freed early Sunday on a highway near Collinsville, Ill., the 77-year-old and almost invalid man was returned to his home several hours later by Department of Justice agents.

The officers were called to a residence conducted by Mrs. Grace Miller where Luer appeared and announced his identity. He said he walked a half mile from the place where he was ejected from a motor car.

He related a story of physical and mental suffering, while detained for more than five days in a chilly, musty sub-basement.

Son Denies Payment
Carl Luer, his son, asserted "we didn't pay a cent of ransom." Many well informed persons believe, how-

Son Of Palmyrans Designed Big Steel Excursion Steamer

Leo S. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Williams of Palmyra township, recently completed designing and decorating of what is called the most modern steamer on the Mississippi, a five deck, all-steel excursion boat for the Streckfus Steamship Co., Inc. of St. Louis. The big boat, called "The President" which made its initial trip about a week ago, is 300 feet long and 160 feet wide, has a ball room 180 by 90 feet, big enough for 2,000 people to dance at the same time, and modern rooms and luxuries, all in modernistic design and decoration. The ship has capacity of 3,500 passengers.

HARRIMAN HAS AGAIN ESCAPED NURSING HOME

Indicted N. York Ex-Banker May Now Be In New Jersey

New York, July 17.—(AP)—Joseph W. Harriman, under indictment for alleged alteration of the books of the Harriman National Bank & Trust Company, which he formerly headed, disappeared from the Regent Nursing Home today.

The aged banker took a taxicab to the Liberty street ferryhouse, and was seen by the driver of the cab to enter the building, presumably to take a boat to the New Jersey side of the Hudson river.

Today's disappearance was Harriman's second from the nursing home. He first "slipped away" from the home May 19 last, and a few minutes after he was found the following day he stabbed himself over the heart. The wound, however, was not serious, and he was able to return to the nursing home a short time later.

O'CONNELL KIN AWAIT FURTHER WORD OF THUGS

Expect the Young Militia Officer To Be Set Free In N. Y. C.

By Robert J. Cavanaugh
Albany, N. Y., July 17.—(AP)—A strong feeling prevailed here today that the kidnapers of John J. O'Connell Jr., would release him in New York City or in a suburb of the metropolitan district.

This belief was given impetus when it was learned that of the four letters received by the 24-year-old National Guard Lieutenant's uncles, Ed and Dan O'Connell, one of the first three notes was mailed from Yonkers and the fourth bore a White Plains postmark. The other two were mailed in this city.

The fact that two of the letters were mailed from close to Manhattan and that the last list of intermediaries was published last Friday in New York City papers, revived the theory that the kidnapers hailed from New York City.

Out-of-Town Gang
District Attorney John T. Delaney has expressed the opinion that the crime was perpetrated by an out-of-town gang, probably from New York, he said, with the assistance of a local resident.

The paper on which the notes were typewritten and signed in the handwriting of the missing youth was of the kind purchasable almost anywhere. It was reported that the authorities also knew the make of the typewriter used in writing the letters. Previously it had been generally understood that the notes were hand printed.

New York City police, acting on an anonymous tip, surrounded and combed the neighborhood in West 27th street between Tenth and Eleventh Avenues last night, in a search for O'Connell, which proved in vain.

With the passing yesterday of the 10th day since O'Connell was seized from an automobile in front of his Putnam street home, the O'Connells today again expected further instructions from the young man's captors, either by mail or telephone.

LOWAN IS GUARDED

Des Moines, Iowa, July 17.—(AP)—It was warned at the state Bureau of Investigation today that Fred L. Maytag, millionaire washing machine manufacturer of Newton, Iowa, has been under guard following an investigation of rumors that he was the object of a kidnaping plot.

Three Automobile Accidents In Dixon On Sunday In Which Occupants Had Lucky Escapes

A car, said to have been driven by Lionel Cable of this city, was badly wrecked Sunday morning about 1:30 on Peoria Avenue near Tenth street, where there is a slight curve in the main cement roadway. The car climbed over the curb, plowing through a hedge into the yard of the Dan Curran property, and then crossing back to the east side of the street, crashing into a large tree in the front yard of the Warren Badger residence. The car was badly damaged and was hauled to a local garage, the occupants escaping with only minor injuries.

A car driven by Joseph Lonergan of this city and one from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, were considerably damaged Sunday afternoon about 4:30 at the intersection of North Galena and Everett streets. The Iowan was driving east on Everett street and failed to stop before entering Galena avenue and crashed into the car driven by Joe Lonergan, local jeweler, who was traveling south on Galena avenue. None of the occupants was seriously injured, but both cars were damaged to the extent that they had to be hauled to garages for repairs.

Cars driven by LeRoy Zimmerman and Ernest Ikes of this city collided at the corner of Second street and Hennepin avenue Sunday morning at 10:15. The cars were only slightly damaged and the occupants escaped uninjured.

PLANE CRASHED IN FOREST; GAS TANK IS EMPTY

Bodies Of Two Fliers Are Found In Wood Near Soldin, Germany

BULLETIN
Kaunas, Lithuania, July 17.—(A)—The government declared national mourning today for Stephen Darius and Stanley Girenas, who were killed in an attempted non-stop flight from New York.

The public was deeply affected by the deaths of the airmen. They will be given a national funeral.

Soldin Pomerania, Germany, July 17.—(AP)—Stephen Darius and Stanley Girenas crashed to their deaths in a group of trees five miles from this ancient little town today, 400 miles from Kaunas, Lithuania, their goal when they took off from New York Saturday.

They had completed roughly nine-tenths of their proposed non-stop flight. Presumably through lack of fuel they sought to effect a landing in the dark morning hours, when there were low hanging clouds.

They struck the forest with terrific force, apparently mistaking the green tree tops for a field. The bodies were mangled beyond recognition.

Mowed Down Trees
The plane mowed down about a dozen fir trees and then crashed to earth, one wing resting against a tree. The ship turned completely around in crashing.

The motor was snapped off and carried ten feet away. Some parts of the plane, which was demolished, were found eighty feet distant. The loss of the airmen indicated that their plane, the Lithuanian, followed a remarkably straight course, keeping virtually the same latitude throughout.

The time of the disaster remained a matter of doubt tonight. Some people in the neighborhood said they heard a crash about 1:00 A. M. and believed it to be a thunder clap. Berry pickers declared they heard the drone of a machine at 8 o'clock.

The bodies of the two aviators, covered by a tarpaulin, rested beneath the trees.

Gas Tank Empty
Soldin is situated on a lake of the same name near the border line of the two Prussian provinces of Neumark and Pomerania.

A guard was placed at the scene by the police and for the time being the bodies were left there.

The Lithuanian struck the same patch of bad weather which forced Wiley Post, globe-circling American flier, to land at Koenigsberg, East Prussia, enroute from Berlin to Moscow.

Police found the gasoline tank of the plane empty. Hence they believed that the pilot came down intentionally but, because of the fog, was unable to see the tree tops.

FLIGHT UNSUCCESSFUL
New York, July 17.—(AP)—Stephen Darius and Stanley Girenas, Lithuanian-American fliers who crashed to their death in Pomerania today, started their attempt to fly non-stop to Lithuania without the knowledge or approval of the government.

They had waited here since May 7 to begin the flight to their native land, but never had secured permission to fly over or land in other countries. This failure was due to the fact that they would not or could not pay the $100 or so cable tolls asking permission.

"We're just going up for some more tests," the fliers told officials at Floyd Bennett field at 4:24 A. M. CST, last Saturday.

The start of the non-stop flight to their native soil was the realization of an ambition long fostered by the two immigrant boys. As transport pilots in Chicago both had saved their funds over a period of years and had sought small donations of their fellow countrymen here in order to purchase the big orange monoplane.

Both 37 And Unmarried
Both fliers were 37 years of age and both were unmarried.

Darius was born in Taurege, Lithuania, and was brought to this country at the age of 10. His mother, Mrs. Augustine Degutis, lives in Chicago.

He enlisted in the First Illinois Artillery six days after the United States entered the World War and received a regimental citation for "habitual bravery under fire." He was wounded by a shell at the second battle of the Marne and received veteran's compensation and further education at the University of Chicago after the war.

Girenas was born in Uplina, Lithuania, and came to this country at the age of seven. He attended grammar school in Chicago and later was employed in various capacities there.

He also was a World War veteran. Until 1931 he operated an aviation school in Chicago.

Maellian, who is credited with the first circumnavigation of the globe, was killed in the Philippine Islands before the journey was completed.

Roosevelt Will Fly To Texas Girl

Chicago, July 17—(AP)—The rumor that Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, would meet Miss Ruth Goggins of Fort Worth, Texas, in Chicago after his divorce hearing today was strengthened by the announcement by United Air Lines that he had engaged passage on a plane leaving Reno for Chicago tonight.

Roosevelt's name had been linked with that of the Fort Worth girl since the news of his impending divorce from Mrs. Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt. Miss Goggins and her mother have been here since July 9.

Young Roosevelt and two companions made reservations on a plane leaving Reno, Nev., at 8:57 (Pacific Standard Time) and arriving at the Chicago airport at 12:30 tomorrow noon.

Windsor, Ont., July 17—(AP)—Mrs. Annie Brookbanks, 43, set fire under the beds of her three sleeping children early today. Windsor authorities said, and then soaked her clothing in kerosene and ignited it. She was critically burned.

The children were uninjured. They are Hilda, 13, and Billie and Duncan, 10-year-old twins.

Richard Brookbanks, father of the children, a railway employee, could not explain the incident.

Tax Suit Against Mellon Dismissed

Washington, July 17—(AP)—A $200,000,000 tax suit against Andrew W. Mellon and other former Treasury officials was dismissed today by Justice James M. Proctor in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

The suit was filed by David A. Loepp, former investigator for a Senate committee, and charged Mellon, former Secretary of the Treasury, and several others with conspiring to defraud the government in the settlement of foreign steamship company taxes.

Justice Proctor, in his opinion sustaining a demurrer raised by the defendants, said the suit did not state a "good present" cause of action.

Unless Olson files the suit in an amended form, the dismissal today means the end of the case.

AROUND-WORLD SOLO AVIATOR LEAVES MOSCOW

a break in the oil feed induced Post to land at Moscow, he said. He hoped he had put everything in excellent order here before he departed.

Post, who seeks to better the mark he and Harold Gatty set on a globe-circling journey in 1931, had left Koenigsberg at 6:45 A. M. local time (1:45 P. M. CST), landing here at 2:30 P. M. Moscow time.

Post and Gatty had an elapsed time of 54 hours and 34 minutes when they reached Moscow.

Ahead Of Old Time

Post made the trip from Koenigsberg to Moscow in 5 hours and 35 minutes and had therefore an elapsed time of 50 hours and 10 minutes on his arrival in the Soviet Capital.

He was behind the schedule he had arranged for himself, but was 4 hours and 24 minutes ahead of the flight he made with Gatty.

The Oklahoman lost time in Berlin because of the delays in refueling and later in Koenigsberg.

His monoplane swooped down suddenly out of the west, circled October field, and then made a perfect landing. The aviator took the corps of foreign correspondents, who had not expected him to be in Moscow, particularly because he spent the night at Koenigsberg, a comparatively short distance away.

Post climbed out stiffly as his plane taxied to a halt. He swayed from exhaustion after his feet touched the ground.

"I need some work on the ship and also some gas and oil," he said.

Airport officials hustled him into a private room at airframe headquarters and a doctor examined him.

MATTER'S PLANS

New York, July 17—(AP)—Representatives of Jimmy Matter, round-the-world flyer now at Anadyr, Siberia, received word from Washington today that the Soviet government had granted permission for Matter to go to Alaska, fly a plane back to Anadyr and then continue his interrupted world flight.

"Just informed by Foreign Office Moscow," the message from Boris Skirsky, unofficial Soviet representative in America, said, "Matter permitted to fly back from Nome to Anadyr and continue his interrupted flight."

Present plans provide that Matter be taken to Nome by a Soviet plane.

Trial Of Alleged Slayers Of Child In Mine War Is On

Jonesboro, Ill., July 17—(AP)—One hundred veniremen today appeared for prospective jury service in the trial of five DuQuoin youths charged with the murder of Lavonne Miller, 14, in a mine union controversy at DuQuoin.

The girl was shot to death by men who fired into the home of her father, Vernon Miller, a United Mine Worker, on the night of April 6.

The case was brought to Union county Circuit Court on a change of venue from Perry county where defense attorneys said the youths could not obtain a fair trial.

Between 65 and 70 witnesses have been subpoenaed.

The defendants are Robert Singleton, Sam Ferro, Otis Battaglia, Emory Albers and Barney Besselo.

Modesto, Ill. Bank Robbed This Morn

Modesto, Ill., July 17—(AP)—The Modesto State Bank was held up this morning by three men who forced four employees to lie on the floor and fled with several hundred dollars taken from the cash drawers.

The robbers escaped in an automobile in which several other men were waiting. Varying reports were they they were seen near Greenfield and toward Auburn. Posses were organized to take up the pursuit.

Money in the bank vault was protected by the time lock, preventing a greater loss.

Lewis Rinaker, president of the bank, C. W. White, cashier, two other employees and a customer were forced to lie on the floor by the armed robbers. Another customer, a cripple, was not molested.

He told them to "get out" the state and get out fast.

Fontana and O'Leary were held to await action by Chief of Detectives William H. Schoemaker. Capt. Gilbert said he had no evidence to prove they were involved in the Factor kidnapping.

PRODUCERS OF CORN AND HOGS MEET TOMORROW

A Knotty Problem To Be Taken Up At Gathering In Des Moines

Des Moines, Iowa, July 17—(AP)—Corn and hog producers will meet with economists and farm act administrators here tomorrow to undertake the most difficult problem yet encountered in applying the act to regulation of the nation's crops.

They have the assurance of Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, that regulation of corn and hog production will be much more difficult than the problems encountered in setting up the wheat and cotton plans, the only two on which work has been done to date.

No two farm products are more closely linked since a large percentage of all corn raised in the Midwest is marketed "on the hoof," being used as the chief fattening feed in preparing hogs for market. For this reason corn and hogs have a definite relationship in relation to each other under normal conditions.

At the present time, however, with corn prices booming in response to the movement of wheat, the ratio between corn and hogs has been upset since livestock prices have not kept pace.

Thus the farmer who raises hogs and is forced to buy feed finds corn at 80 cents per bushel too high in price to allow him a profit when it is fed to hogs still selling below $5 a hundredweight.

Some opposition is expected at the outset of tomorrow's conference to the proposed processing tax on pork, proceeds of which would be used to finance an acreage reduction program for 1934. The argument has been offered that any benefit accruing from a pork tax should be given the pork producer.

BEACH CLOTHES COME TO THEIR SENSES

Bizarre Novelties Give Way To Costumes Of Good Taste

By JEAN PATOU

Paris—Any trace even of eccentricity fortunately seems forever banished from the creation of beach clothes. Ever since its inception, there has been in this category of woman's dress a continual novelty and something akin to a renaissance of the mode. Very strictly speaking, changes here were all too frequent and bordering on the incoherent.

The fact of the matter is that women were motivated, as always in the matter of dress, by their desire for novelty and this desire, for a long time, was accompanied by a certain amount of indecision. Hand in hand with this indecision and paradoxical as it may sound, was combined the usual feminine assurance which produced some startling innovations, often bordering on bad taste.

A Vogue that was Carried Too Far
It would be unjust to make any reproach to couturiers on that score. Beach dresses and ensembles undoubtedly constitute a category of dress which has most evolved during the last few years. As with all evolutions, however, there invariably comes a period tantamount to revolution, therefore somewhat disorderly, and producing exaggerations which always occur when anything relatively new appears.

At the outset, the great novelty resided in the fact of wearing special things for the beach. Until then women had been content with clothes which of all their wardrobe represented the coolest, gayest and most practical wear; in short, dresses best suited to the beach.

Then the desire for greater ease and comfort determined the sudden vogue for beach pajamas and an excessive fantasy was immediately registered in this realm. Purely and simply a fantasy in itself, the pajama did not need to be fashioned of crepe, chiffon or any other extravagant medium to be original. It carried sufficient resources within itself to escape banality, without having to be eccentric also.

Fantasy at Best When Restrained

I believe that beach styles of new acquired a sort of discipline which groups all garments belonging to this category under the sign of quiet elegance and good taste. Exaggerated fantasy is today rigorously barred, but discreet original touches are not only permitted, but most effective.

The best theme on which to build beach clothes is to start on a simple idea and then create an ensemble where each garment offers an unexpected note of fantasy, without having to resort either to excessive volume or bizarre cut.

Women Are Urged To Act, Not Talk

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—Action, instead of resolutions, is what is needed if women are to play any part in world politics of the future. Miss Lena Madson Phillips, a New York attorney, told famous members of her sex gathered here today for an international congress of women.

"The feminine quest for power wanes," she said in the keynote address during last night's opening ceremonies of the six-day parley.

"But before women today lie great opportunities for the right use of that power. The time has come for men and women who are eager for the progress of civilization to abandon words for militant action."

Miss Phillips, president of the National Council of Women, which called the congress to meeting, opened the session with the gavel first used by Elizabeth Cady Stanton in 1883 at the first great congress of women held in Washington.

Wear white for yachting or the beach, whether you choose skirts or pajamas, says Jean Patou. Both of these costumes are made of white linage. The sweater with the skirt has a cute round yoke, belt section and cuffs of white. The jacket sweater with the trousers buttons up the front, and takes a gay red tie to give it a tri-color appeal. The novel little berets are of navy tricot, too.

Wife Of President's Son To Get Decree

Minden, Nevada, July 17.—(AP)—Trial of the divorce suit of Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, against Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt, comes before the District Court at a private hearing today.

Mrs. Roosevelt is to get the decree on a cross-complaint, supported by her deposition air-mailed from Philadelphia, her attorney, Lester D. Summe, field, said.

Roosevelt, who filed the suit Friday, appears only to present proof he has resided in Nevada the six weeks necessary to give the court jurisdiction and acknowledge his wife's counter action.

Roosevelt was expected to leave immediately after the trial for Reno where he has reservations for himself, his attorney, Samuel Platt, and the latter's wife on an east-bound plane tonight.

WHY WE NEED A NAVY OF TREATY STRENGTH.

A few years ago a great many Americans would have been seriously disturbed by an announcement that their navy was to be built up forthwith to treaty strength and made literally second to none.

Today the news that this is to be done bothers hardly anyone; and this change of attitude measures the failure of American efforts to get the other nations of the world to agree on an effective disarmament program.

No peace-loving American need be ashamed of his country's record in respect to disarmament.

Shortly after the close of the World War the United States fleet, counting vessels already built, vessels laid down and vessels definitely appropriated for, was far the most powerful fleet ever dreamed of.

If the program then in effect had been completed, no other navy on earth could have hoped to cope with American sea strength. The Washington conference saw this country voluntarily throwing away the finest fighting ships ever built. Of our own free will we scrapped our newest and strongest warships, accepted parity with England and pledged ourselves not to seek naval superiority.

That was a magnificent beginning. But it was not followed up; and the fault for that failure does not rest on the American government. Repeatedly during the next decade Washington sought to extend the arms reduction treaty and scale down world navies, and repeatedly other powers refused to go along. Sometimes it was England that stood in the way, sometimes France, sometimes Japan.

As a result, it has been made very apparent that world sentiment has not yet reached the point at which any genuine, far-reaching naval disarmament program is possible. We have tried, we have made sacrifices, but it is no go. We have what is left of the Washington treaty, but there is no likelihood that anything better can be obtained for years to come.

That being the case, what is there left to do but build up to treaty strength? The time has not yet come in which we can discard our defenses. If we continue to maintain any navy at all, it has to be a good one; and since no one else is willing to go with us on a new reduction, we can hardly do anything else than make our navy the best navy that the existing treaty permits.

BUSINESS DEPRESSION CAN'T CURE ITSELF.

The American people are being given the chance this summer to make one of the most colossal mistakes imaginable.

Business is reviving more rapidly than we had thought possible. Factory chimneys are smoking again, trains are moving, men are going back to work; and the very speed with which all of this is happening carries with it a danger which is very real even if it is not obvious.

Our chance to make a mistake lies simply in this: because things are picking up so rapidly, we may conclude that the alterations which have been outlined for our inherited economic framework are unnecessary.

We may, in other words, delude ourselves into thinking that the "normal processes" of business recovery will put people back to work, restore buying power and bring back prosperity unaided.

According to the classical theories of economics, that is precisely what ought to happen. But already it is becoming evident that unless our industrial machine is held under strict and intelligent control, we shall merely be gathering momentum for a new plunge into the ditch. And one more plunge would just about finish the machine, and its riders as well.

The successful working of our traditional system depends entirely on the impetus supplied by the profits motive. In the last few weeks the profit motive has impelled industry to adopt certain tactics which must inevitably betray any recovery which is made.

Retail prices are rising faster than wages. Production is outstripping employment. Manufacturers are hurrying to pile up surplus stores of goods before higher wages go into effect. The diehards are preparing to fight organized labor. The business pickup has caused certain industries to grow cold on the industrial control plan.

Now these developments do not indict the individuals responsible; they indict the traditional economic system under which these individuals have to operate. They reveal in it flaws which must be fatal unless they are corrected.

If we let ourselves be persuaded that the depression is going to end automatically, so that these correctives are not needed, we shall have nothing but trouble. We need to remember every minute that the dawning recovery cannot be permanent or healthy unless a very real restraint is put upon the scramble for profits.

It is well to keep your feet on the ground, but it is equally necessary to keep your head in the clouds if you want to accomplish more than the routine drudgery of life.—Dr. Paul Jones, Antioch college.

The college should not follow public opinion; it should either lead it or let it alone.—Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale.

PSYCHIC DERMATITIS

Though a disease may be essentially organic, affecting, for example, the heart, the gastro-intestinal tract or the kidneys, it has an emotional and psychologic counterpart.

At times this psychologic factor is primary, leading to the development of the organic condition; at times it is secondary, being the product of the organic condition.

A man aged 26 gave a history of 16 years of periodic attacks of eczema. He had been studied thoroughly for many possible causes, but nothing was found to account for his trouble. At the age of 24 he married, and two weeks after his marriage he broke out with a most severe form of skin eruption.

The young man was of a nervous, worrying type, definitely suffering from anxiety. Medicinal treatment did not relieve his condition. He was therefore treated psychologically, but in vain.

It was noted, however, that his skin condition greatly improved when he was away from his wife. The significance of the psychologic factor therefore received apparent re-affirmation.

One ingenious physician, however, not willing to ascribe it all to "psychology," subjected the patient to what are known as patch tests, employing in these tests the cosmetics, powders and perfumes used by the patient's wife.

The tests revealed that the patient was acutely sensitive to the perfumed cosmetics. Touching his skin with any of them provoked an acute inflammation. When the wife gave up using the offensive cosmetics, the patient's skin rash disappeared entirely.

This history, despite its dramatic quality, does not, however, disprove that there was not a psychologic factor in the disease condition; for, undoubtedly the acuteness of the reaction of the patient to the specific irritants was affected by his nervous state. However, the psychic factor was not of primary importance.

Everyday Religion

LIBERTY, OF COURSE!

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton
My study-door opened and a quiet little man entered. Shy, frail, soft-spoken, his eyes made one feel that he had journeyed a long road and passed many graves on the way. At one time he had been the head of a religious community in Russia, but had been driven out, escaping many traps and almost losing his life.

In America, he said, as we talked together, "men take liberty for granted, as a matter of course; but if they had seen what I have seen it would be different. None of us can know what liberty means until we lose it. When liberty goes, everything goes."

"But men are tired of liberty," I said; "at least the Dictator of Italy tells us so. Men want to be ruled; they cannot rule themselves. Liberty only means confusion, and less talk, inefficiency. Men must be told what to do and be made to do it. Otherwise they haggle, hesitate, and debate, and get nowhere. Such is the mood of the day, is it not?"

"But it is only a mood," my visitor said, "and as such, temporary. In New York, on a clear day, one looks down from the Empire State Building upon an amazing picture—in the harbor Lady Liberty holds aloft her torch of light. But there are other days when a mist floats in from the sea, and the Statue of Liberty is hidden and lost to sight."

"At the moment," he went on, "the world is misty, hazy, and the old certainties are veiled in fog. But the winds of God will blow and the mist will lift. In the meantime each of us carries a tiny spark of light in his own soul, and we must follow it! Men lose liberty because they lose faith! Liberty is the breath of God and the life of man!"

"Russia," he said as he went away, "repudiates both religion and liberty. Therein it is logical. The two belong together, and we cannot lose one and keep the other. The root of the tragedy is that men think of themselves as animals—animals. It may be of a higher order, clever, scientific, but animals none the less; not spirit-

A BOOK A DAY

STEAL A YACHT AND HAVE A GAY CRUISE

By Bruce Catton

Summer seems to be the ideal time for light and frothy fables; and one which might please you very well is "Five Days," by Eric Hatch.

This tale has to do with a young man named Beadleston Preece, who discovers abruptly that the vagaries of the stock market have transformed him from a rich man into a very poor one. He sits on the steps of his Long Island home, which has just been sold under the hammer, and contemplates suicide; but before he can transform thought into action a burglar comes on the scene and our Beadleston Preece makes a friend of him.

Then the fun begins. Preece and the burglar set forth and steal a private yacht, in which they begin an aimless but diverting tour of the waters about Long Island Sound. They pick up a girl from a New Jersey barge, recruit a hen-pecked millionaire who wants to escape from his wife and find their forces still further augmented by a pretty debutante and a restless bishop.

No very good purpose would be served by relating their further adventures in detail, especially since your reviewer can't remember all of them. But they have, as you can imagine, a rather hilarious time, and the whole thing makes pretty entertaining summer reading.

Mr. Hatch has a good touch for farce comedy of this kind. Occasionally he shows an echo of the cheerful insanity which makes Thorne Smith's characters so diverting.

THE TINY TINIEST

Story by HAL COCHRAN

Picture by GEORGE SCARBO

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies did as they were told, are on the shore. Oh, please, thought Coppy, "Gee, the waters cold." And then he started swimming so that he could reach the top.

"Hey, there, where are you going, now?" cried Shrimpy. "Stay and have some fun. If all of you lads leave me now, my plans will be a flop."

"Although I don't amount to much, I have a very magic touch, and I have touched each one of you to fix you for the sea."

"You will find that you can breathe down here, so there is not a thing to fear. Just act like you

Soon Scouty said, "Our friend is right. I just now breathed with all my might. The breathing did not choke me, so I'm going to stay with him."

The others joined right in to say, "We also breathed, so we will stay. Gee, won't it be real fun, because we can either walk or swim."

Then Doty said, "That fish was mean to saw our dandy submarine. I think it should be punished. Look! It still is hanging round."

"Come here," cried out the deep-sea man. "Explain your mean trick if you can. Say, swordfish, if I catch you, I will spank you good and sound."

"Wait! I will catch it," Coppy said. "Just watch! I'll get it by the head." Two other Tinies helped him and the fish soon was held tight.

It tried real hard to get away, but Coppy said, "You're here to stay. You're going to get some punishment and it will serve you right."

Then Shrimpy said, "What I will do will hurt me worse than it will you." He took hold of the swordfish and then spread it cross his knee.

The spanking was a funny sight and when it was over, one Tiny-mite said, "Well, I guess that swordfish is as sorry as can be."

(The Tinies meet King Neptune in the next story.)

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

ARTHUR J. NEU, champion fly-caster, says:

"Dry-fly fishing is a delicate art that takes the best a man's got in steadiness of hand and eye. To win the championship in accuracy at casting a dry fly, I had to have healthy nerves. And yet I smoke steadily—all I want to—without disturbing my nerves. That's because I prefer Camels. There is no question but that they are milder. And their rich, inviting flavor seems to say, 'Have another.'"

Turn to Camels. Like Mr. Neu you will find that Camels are milder...that their flavor suits your taste...that steady smoking never jangles your nerves. So begin today!

DEVINE UPHOLDS NEW CORPORATION LAW OF ILLINOIS

Gives Stockholders And Creditors Greater Protection

Springfield, Ill., July 17—(AP)—Illinois now has "one of the soundest" corporation laws in existence," Representative John P. Devine of Dixon, prominent democrat, said today.

Devine piloted through the house the 40,000-word bill which became a law last week when Governor Horner filed it with the Secretary of State, without his signature.

"The act entirely revamps the antiquated Illinois corporation laws governing business corporations and is designed to give the stockholders and creditors of corporations greater protection than was afforded by the prior law," Devine said.

"Among other safeguards for the benefit of stockholders, and creditors, not found in the prior statute are provisions which prohibit a corporation from purchasing its own shares except out of earned surplus, which prohibit the issuance of stock certificates until the shares are fully paid for, and which prohibit the redemption of preferred shares to the detriment of creditors."

"Additional safeguards are also imposed on the reduction of state capital and in the distribution of assets which would be prejudicial to creditors or to preferred shareholders."

Expectations are that the simplified provisions would greatly increase the number of corporations organized in Illinois and increase revenues from fees and franchise taxes.

In Making Several Years
This new law was under process of preparation for several years, first by a joint committee of the Illinois and Chicago Bar Associations and then by a legislative commission appointed in 1931. Devine was a member of the commission. The bill was introduced by Senator Arthur Huebsch, Brookfield republican.

Devine described the old law as being "wide-open" as to dividends, permitting payments to be declared out of surplus created by a "write-up" of asset values.

"The new act," he said, "not only prohibits the declaration of a dividend at a time when the corporation is insolvent or its assets are less than its state capital or which would render the corporation insolvent or reduce its net assets below its state capital, but also prohibits the payment of any cash dividend out of surplus created by an unrealized appreciation in value or revaluation of corporate assets."

"The use of paid-in surplus as a basis for the payment of cash dividends is also prohibited, except in the one instance where cash dividends are permitted on preferred shares on condition that such shareholders be notified of the source of such dividend."

No other state, Devine continued, has more stringent liabilities upon directors who are jointly and severally liable if they vote on prohibited dividends or other distribution of assets. Criminal penalties also are imposed upon directors who vote for a loan to an official of the corporation.

In Line With Others
Devine said corporation attorneys believed that great improvement has been made in permitting courts to liquidate financially embarrassed companies "without the imposition of huge trustee and receivership fees." Reorganization is permitted upon consent of three-fourths of the creditors and shareholders.

The defense of ultra vires is abolished by the new law.

Illinois corporations are required to maintain registered offices and agents in the state so that process can be served without difficulty.

"The act," Devine said, "abolished the antiquated restrictions heretofore imposed upon the right of a corporation to own and deal in real estate, and places Illinois in line with other states. x x x
"Illinois was the only state which limited the amount of urban real estate which a corporation could own and it was one of five states which contained restrictions upon the amount of non-urban real estate which might be owned by a corporation."

"An exhaustive investigation disclosed that none of these other states had experienced any abuses by corporations in the exercise of their right to own and deal in real estate and that any fear which may have existed as to monopolistic holdings of real estate by ordinary business corporations was a pure myth."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Life" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 16. The Golden Text was, "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (John 7:3).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life" (John 5:24).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let us feel the divine energy of Spirit, bringing us into newness of life and recognizing no mortal material power as able to destroy... Life is, like Christ, the same yesterday, and today, and forever" (p. 243).

WORLD CONGRESS AT LONDON TOO BIG TO FUNCTION

Size Of It Blocks Its Progress, All Leaders
Are Agreed

London, July 17—(AP)—The leaders of the world economic conference have decided after long and solemn consideration that too many cooks spoil the broth. Unless they change this view the conference, which will take a recess July 27, will not be reconvened in its entirety.

The belief that the parity should not be revived after the recess was voiced at this morning's meeting of the steering committee it was understood.

There is a growing feeling, in which at least some of the American delegation concur, that the conference as now constituted is so unwieldy it blocks its own progress.

If and when it is brought into being again—in Washington, London, Geneva or elsewhere—its numbers will be whittled down so that it will not take a census expert to keep track of the sub-committees or sub-committees of committees appointed by the sub-commissions of the commissions.

BOB BECKER IS EXPECTED GUEST AT SCOUT CAMP

Famed Outdoor Editor To Attend Jamboree On August 17th.

By LESLIE A. WATT

Bob Becker, famed outdoor editor of the Chicago Daily Tribune, and author of the "Devil Bird" radio program, will be the feature attraction at the huge camp fire, Aug. 17, at Camp Pinehurst. The camp fire is the second night of the Boy Scout Jamboree sponsored by the Black Hawk Area Council.

Mr. Becker will make a special trip from Chicago to Rockford to be present at the camp fire and to bring the Scouts a real treat in the field of adventure. His active association with the Chicago Council of the Boy Scouts plus his sports trips make Mr. Becker an authority on outdoor life and its connections to Scouting.

He has traveled widely in Europe, Africa, South America, and Alaska. On fishing and hunting his word is regarded as final by sportsmen everywhere. Fishing in the Florida keys, duck hunting in Illinois, bear hunting in Alaska, and after big game along the Amazon in Brazil—those are a few of his fields of activity. He is a noted author and lecturer, and maintains active interest in the Isaac Walton league. From time to time his stories will be seen in the leading outdoor magazines and nearly everyday he has a story in the Chicago Daily Tribune and fishing have come from his

Is Scout Booster

Yearly he takes a group of Chicago Scouts on a canoe trip down one of the principal rivers of the Central West. This year he chose the Fox, but several years ago he came farther west to use Rock River. On that occasion the Black Hawk Area officials and Scouts helped him and his party in transportation about Rockford—a favor which he never forgot.

Now he returns to Rockford to repay the favor received. On the night of Aug. 17, at Camp Pinehurst, 5½ miles southwest of Rockford, Bob Becker will be outdoor sportsman and Scouter de luxe. A program specially designed for Scouts interspersed with bits of the "Devil Bird" radio program, of which he is the author, will make the camp fire an event from which every Scout and parent can derive a benefit.

12 Vaudeville Acts

Besides, Bob Becker there will be 12 acts of boy vaudeville at the camp fire. Winners of the district camp fires held Wednesday night, Aug. 16, will each put on their stunt. Fifteen hundred special invited guests will be allowed to view this great show. Tickets are now being printed and distribution will take place next week.

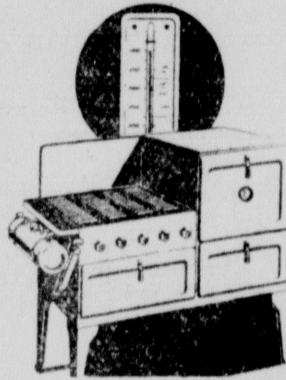

The Jamboree, of which the camp fire is a part, will be a three day camp, Aug. 16-18, of all Scouts in the Black Hawk Area, some 2000 in number. This will be the largest camp of boys ever assembled in the State of Illinois. Two thousands boys under canvas within an one hundred acre tract of timber land will make a truly massive camp. A. V. Newman, Field Scout Executive, is director of the Jamboree, assisted by L. A. Watt. The executive committee, which acts as the steering committee on all matters of policy and preparation is headed by Stanton Smith.

Captain Endres and Captain Magyar flew from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to a point 25 miles from Budapest, Hungary, and never sat the Atlantic ocean, because of fog.

AIMEE SEMPLE McPHERSON MAY LOSE HER 'DAVE'

Rotund Baritone Will File Suit For Divorce In The West

Los Angeles, July 17—(AP)—David L. Hutton, rotund husband of the crusading evangelist, Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, said he will file suit for divorce today in Superior Court on the ground of mental cruelty.

Specifically, said the baritone choirist who married the Angelus Temple evangelist 22 months ago on a flying trip to Yuma, Ariz., he was tired of having the intimate details of his married life "publicly discussed."

Mrs. McPherson-Hutton is on the high seas, en route home from Europe.

Divorce, often rumored, is sought by Hutton as a climax to a tumultuous wedded life which, only a fortnight or so ago, was punctuated by a serio-comic cablegram from his wife in Paris, announcing the birth of a son.

Subsequently the explanation drifted out of Temple headquarters that "Sister Aimee" was merely trying to find out where the "leak" was occurring in confidential messages she sent the Temple.

The complaint to be filed today alleges Aimee made him and his married life "ridiculous" by perpetrating "a hoax as to the birth of a baby," which was "banded about in the press of the world," when, in fact, "no baby was born."

That was when Aimee lay in a Paris hospital recovering from what ultimately was described as a plastic operation.

The oft-mongered intrigue at Angelus Temple, having to do with management of the evangelistic plant in the absence of its titular head, is referred to in the papers prepared for filing.

Victim of Intrigue? "Persons delegated to act for Mrs. McPherson-Hutton when she was on her world tour began a system of intrigue to embarrass and humiliate him, he said, and with the full knowledge" of his wife who "failed, neglected and refused" to protect him from such acts and conduct.

Said Hutton aside from the complaint: "I am sorry to find it necessary to take such steps, but the really well meaning folk of the Temple need peace and a rest from hypodrome publicity in order to carry on. I must admit that married life for me has been no bed of roses. At times I was tempted to call it a 'martial' state instead of a 'marital' one."

Then he disclosed plans for a theatrical career beginning Thursday. He will open at a Long Beach theater and then continue appearances in an eastward trek already booked.

INVALID BANKER FREED AT EARLY HOUR ON SUNDAY

over, that a ransom of $10,000 charged hands. The initial demand, received in a note Thursday, was reported to have been for $100,000.

The elderly man, seized last Monday evening in his own home here by two men and a woman, suffers from frequent heart attacks. Fear that he might die while in custody was believed in some quarters to have been the motivating influence in the release.

"We'd never have touched you, Pop, if we'd known you are so weak and sick," Luer said he was told by one of the abductors.

After a bath, physical examination, and nap, Luer late yesterday posed with his wife for photographers. He joked with the camera men but police would not permit him to make a further statement.

In Good Health. The examination revealed that Luer was in remarkably good health, considering the poor condition of his heart and the ordeal he suffered.

He said he never saw the faces of his captors. The trio which seized him in his home wore masks, and immediately taped his eyes and did not remove the bandages during his captivity, he explained.

Liability of the victim to describe his abductors added more difficulty to a search for the gang, inaugurated immediately by federal, state, and county officers. During the last days of his captivity police were inactive at the request of the banker's family.

Hide-Out Not Found. Possibility that a large private garage near a bungalow recently wrecked by a gas explosion was the gang hide-out faded when boys in the neighborhood said they visited no one there.

Chief of Police Edward Strong, of Collinsville, at first believed the garage, only a half mile from the scene of Luer's release, was the kidnappers' den.

Luer said he was taken by motor car to the dungeon, where he remained during his captivity, and was spirited away by the same method. He got in and out of four machines the night of the abduction, he related.

The banker explained he was not treated unkindly by the gang but was given only ham sandwiches, oranges, cantaloupe and hard boiled eggs to eat, and slept for two nights on a concrete floor before being furnished a motor car seat to use as a bed.

Temperatures of Venus is about 10 degrees below zero, day and night.

NEWS CHURCHES

BRETHREN CHURCH

The average attendance of the Sunday school for the month of June was the highest in the history of the church. We are all happy because the hot weather has not cut down our attendance at church services. We are now making an effort to have the highest attendance for the months of June, July and August in the history of the church. If every member will work hard we will go over the top. Our services yesterday were well attended. We heard many compliments on our fine program last night. Tuesday night the young married people's Sunday school class has announced a picnic dinner and party at Lowell park in honor of Mr. and Mrs. David Wade. Members and friends of the class are invited. Wednesday night is Bible study at 7:45. Those who have done personal work are invited to be present and report on their work.

Thursday night the intermediate Sunday school class, which is taught by Marie Thompson has planned to go to the Franklin Grove park for a social time. A picnic supper will be served. All members of the class are invited to bring a friend.

Next Sunday will be our first Annual Mid-summer rally, and plans are being made for a booster day. Large attendance is expected at all services. Each class is working for a one hundred per cent attendance. Rev. Edward Stump of South Bend, Ind., will be the speaker of the day.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH ITEMS

The cool weather helped the Bible school attendance yesterday. There was 329 present. The adult classes reported attendance as follows: Philoas, 42; Upstreamers, 39; Loyal Men, 39; True Blue, 22; Young men, 18; Young married people, 16; Miss Genevieve Reithell gave a very interesting report of the Young Peoples Conference at Eureka. Other delegates will report later.

The Christian Endeavor society had visitors night with a good program led by Miss Marcella Bennett. The Willing Workers' Class did well with their ice cream social Saturday night and expect to donate to both Bible school and church treasures.

The Philoas class will have a picnic supper this evening at the home of Genevieve Reithell, 418 Upham Place. The new officers will be installed.

The Bible school conference will meet Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the home of C. C. Emmert, 1009 Highland Ave.

Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30. Read the first and second chapters of the First Epistle of John.

The ball team of the Young Men's class has three games scheduled for this week. The first game this evening, corner Sherwin and Second, against the Sherwin team.

SAYS RICH COOK CO. PREFERS TO BEG FOR RELIEF

Senator Lantz Issues A Statement Condemning
Horner Veto

Springfield, Ill., July 17—(AP)—Senator Simon E. Lantz, Conger-ville republican Saturday issued a statement condemning the veto by Governor Horner of his tax bills for Cook county unemployment relief.

"It is now the duty of all downstate legislators," Lantz said, "to stop voting any money belonging to the people of their districts for the benefit of Cook county, which is wealthy but prefers to beg rather than pay."

The three bills by Senator Lantz would have enabled Cook county and its municipalities to finance unemployment relief through additional property taxes. Chicago leaders requested the veto.

Called "Honest Effort." "The bills were passed as an honest effort to give each county, city and village in the state the permissive authority to levy taxes for the relief of the unemployed," Lantz said.

"Townships in counties under township organization are now not only permitted but authorized to levy sufficient funds for unemployment relief. Downstate counties are now doing this and also contributing to the wealthy county of Cook for her relief problems."

"Cook county has never favored any legislation permitting it to finance its unemployment relief, but has chosen to beg for bread and butter, first at Washington, then at Springfield."

"Under the Lantz bills, every county, township, city and village would have been permitted to bear its own burden for relief purposes and in a large measure put a stop to the dole system. This, each county should be willing to do, just as we have been doing downstate."

BARGAIN BRIDIE

by KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELINOR STAFFORD, 20, falls in love with 35-year-old HARRY COLVIN, returned to New York after years abroad. Barrett has made a name for himself as an archeologist. He is about to ask Elinor to marry him when her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, interferes and succeeds in breaking up the romance.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her entire fortune to Barrett. Then a drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett, who does not want the Sexton fortune, tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live in his home as a guest for a year he will give the entire sum to her to divide among the relatives. Elinor agrees, knowing the money may save her father's life.

The marriage takes place next day. Barrett finds himself falling in love with Elinor over again. Then one day he sees her with BOB TELFARE and believes she has been meeting Telfare secretly. His suspicions of her are renewed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI

COLDLY Barrett asked, "Why didn't you keep Hutton?"

Elinor flushed; her eyes wandered. She had sent the chauffeur home because she didn't want anyone to know about her going to see Philip. She had murmured something about uncertainty of plans and dismissed Hutton.

"I—I had some shopping to do," she stammered, "and you know how difficult it is to park cars near—"

"I fear I quite understand," he responded levelly, crisply. She raised surprised eyes and, as she saw his face, her color receded.

"I must remind you," Barrett went on inflexibly, "that I told you several weeks ago I would not have you indulging in flirtations."

"Why, Barrett!" she stammered.

"You were with Bobby Telfare all afternoon," he stated.

"But I wasn't!" She was stung by the injustice.

"Did you have a pleasant time with Bessie?" he asked.

"I had a lovely afternoon," she answered, not quite evenly. She would have gone on to tell him that she had gone elsewhere but he looked at his watch, murmured an excuse and left the room.

Alone, she stood with tears brimming in her eyes and teeth set on her lower lip. Such a reception—after the morning!

She drank her tea as gallantly as she could, hoping to hide her emotions from the keen eyes of Higgins. Then she went to her room and let the tears come.

HIGGINS tapped on her door at six to say that Mr. Barrett was dining out. Would she like her dinner served on a little table near the library fire? He saw her swallow convulsively before she responded.

"That would be very nice," she said, lifting her head.

Obviously, she decided when the door was closed on Higgins and she was alone again, Barrett regretted his softening toward her that morning. She regretted it too. The moment of tenderness had given her such high hopes.

SPORTS

SENATORS ARE IN SLUMP; YANKS TIED WITH THEM

The National League Is Unchanged Result Sunday's Games

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.

Associated Press Sports Writer

The slump which strikes nearly every good ball club at least once a season, has hit the Washington Senators just when they seemed to have first place in the American League. They were tied with the Yankees in the American League.

A week ago, Washington, with 23 victories in 26 games, had pulled away to a 4-1-2 game lead over the New York Yankees. Then, as the Yankees started a streak, the Senators went wrong and today the clubs again were tied for the lead.

The Senator took a 7 to 0 white-wash from the St. Louis Browns yesterday, their fifth defeat in eight games.

Irving "Bump" Hadley gave the Senators only four hits, three of them by Heinie Manush, while Earl Whitehill went up in the air in the ninth and Bill McAfee also was hit hard to give the last place club six runs.

The only other American League game saw the Cleveland Indians defeat the Boston Red Sox 2 to 1 in 14 innings when Frank Pytlak and Willie Kamm nipped Bob Weiland for singles and the former scored after Bill Knickerbocker's fly. Willis Hudlin held the Sox to five hits, only one of which came in the first nine innings.

Giants' Hitless Wonders

The New York Giants, National League leaders, continued their career as "hitless wonders" by dividing a pair of 1-0 decisions with the last place Cincinnati Reds although they got only 15 hits in 24 innings. The Reds won the opener a 15-inning duel between Red Lucas and Bud Parmelee when Eddie Hemmery singled, George Grantham home, Manager Bill Terry's double and Johnny Vergez's single produced the Giant tally off Paul Derringer in the fourth inning of the nightcap.

Two of the Giants' principal rivals, the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals, also split double-headers while Pittsburgh was kept idle by rain at Brooklyn.

The second place Cubs dropped the opener to Boston 2-1 when Wally Berger clouted his 17th homer of the year in the eighth inning to break up a mound duel between Ed Brandt and Pat Malone. Cuy Bush pitched seven-hit ball and Woody English and Riggs Stephenson contributed fancy slugging to give Chicago the second game 3-1.

Bill Hallahan's flinging gave the Cards a 4-2 decision over the Phillies in the first game, but the Phils piled up eight runs in three frames to win the second, 8-2 behind Snipe Hansen's six hit hurling.

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

BOSTON BUSINESS—

Despite general denials, Boston newspapermen are sticking to their stories about new deals for the Braves and Red Sox.

To begin with the Braves, a stock deal now on the fire is expected to restore to Judge Emil Fuchs control of the franchise and result in James Roosevelt, son of the President, becoming treasurer of the club.

The judge is said to have suffered financial reverses in several private investments, borrowed from his partners and pledged his stock in the Braves outfit. The loan coming due, a reorganization was suggested, and it's cooking now.

MARTY ALL THROUGH—
Boston friends of Marty McManus—of which there are many—say that he's through as manager of the Red Sox, but will finish out the season of 1933.

The story is that McManus has not been getting along with Eddie Collins. Press box "observers" say Eddie has been master-minding from the grandstand, signaling outfielders to this position or that. McManus resented these maneuvers as an interference with his prerogatives.

Roger Peckinpaugh, deposed manager of the Indians, was asked to be ready to take the Boston managership. Collins invited McManus to remain at third base and turn over the pilot's job.

Marty, more power to the young man, refused, and invited Collins to fire him. The team thereupon started on a winning streak, so Marty wasn't fired.

HARRIS, COCHRANE—
Now, according to the well-known baseball grapevine, Bucky Harris will be through at Detroit, with the end of the season, and will be offered the Boston job. If he doesn't want it, Jack Berry, old star of the A's is mentioned as a possibility.

Still another story has Connie Mack selling Earnshaw and Cochrane to the Red Sox, with the latter becoming manager.

Where the truth or error lies in these reports only time can point out.

NEW ZEALANDER STEPPED A MILE IN RECORD TIME

Jack Lovelock Amazed Timers With A 4:7.6 Performance

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, July 17—America, once the home of the world's greatest middle distance foot-racers, hailed today a new king of mile runners, John E. (Jack) Lovelock from far-off Dunedin, New Zealand, and Oxford University of England.

Running for the Oxford-Cambridge team in a meet Saturday against the combined Cornell-Princeton forces, the American won, Lovelock flashed his 133 pounds of racing energy past a quartet of amazed timers in 4 minutes, 7.6 seconds, beating Princeton's famous Bill Bonthron by seven yards and shattering the world record to fragments.

Bonthron ran the distance faster than any American before him, being clocked in 4:08.7, but the 20-year-old Detroit boy was unable to match Lovelock's marvelous finishing sprint after the two had raced stride for stride most of the way.

Thus, under circumstances as remarkable as any in foot-racing annals, the mile record passed farther than ever from American hands, leaving the track world somewhat groggy from this fresh attack on time and the experts now confident that Lovelock, if not Bonthron too, can step the ancient distance in 4:06 or even better. EQUIPOISE MAY START IF LOAD ISN'T TOO BIG

Handicapper May Be Means Of Keeping Him In Stable

Chicago, July 17—(AP)—Equipoise, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's handicap champion, will renew his campaign to win enough money to blot out Sun Beau's all-time record next Saturday in the Arlington Handicap—if he is not assigned too much weight.

The great eastern horse was named for the Stars and Stripes Handicap July 4, but was withdrawn because of lameness. He was assessed 136 pounds for the Independence Day feature, but may get in with a pound or two less this week. It all depends on handicapper Joe McLennan, then, whether "Eckie" will run.

The event is a mile and a quarter and will have an added value of $10,000. Nominated and likely to start are Norman W. Church's pair of speedsters, Plucky Day and Gallant Sir, Laveraga, from the small stable, winner of the Cuban Grand National, and the Decoration Day and Jockey Club Stakes in New York; and Gusto, which won the 1932 Arlington Classic. The Wheatley stable's Dark Secret, Rehoboth, Plydorus, Reveille Boy, Osculator and Tred Avon, are other possibilities.

The 1933 Arlington Classic failed to establish anything in the way of a three year old champion. Inland-er, the winner, liked sticky going and polished off a field which included Golden Way and War Glory, which landed second and third; Head Play, Gold Basis, Kerry Patch, Okapi, Sarada, Edelweiss, Pomponius, Silent Shot, The Darb and Red Roamer.

"BIG FOUR" TO FACE ENGLISH IN TENNIS TEST

Vines, Allison, Lott And Van Ryn U. S. Davis Cuppers

Auteuil, France, July 17—(AP)—The United States will pin its Davis Cup tennis hopes in the interzone finals this week on the same four players who conquered Canada and Argentina.

Bernon S. Prentice, in charge of the American squad, selected Ellsworth Vines, Wilmer Allison, George Lott and John Van Ryn yesterday to face England, surprise conquerors of Australia last week, in the interzone series starting in Roland Garros Stadium Friday.

Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, Vines' doubles partner, was picked as alternate.

Although the draw will not be made until later in the week, it was expected Vines and Allison would be given the two singles berths, with Lott and Van Ryn handling the doubles.

England probably will use Fred Perry and H. W. (Bunny) Austin in singles and Perry and George Patrick Hughes in doubles.

After Friday's opening singles matches, the doubles will be played Saturday and the final two singles matches Sunday. The winner will qualify to meet France in the challenge round here July 28-29-30.
